School district eyes re-annexing part of county ceded in '50s

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

The Hancock County Board of Education called a recess meeting at the Flattop Community Center in Picayune on Thursday to discuss the possibility of re-annexing a portion of the county back into the Hancock School District.

Although the territory lies within the borders of Hancock County, it has been taxed by the Picayune school district since 1957, when the school board voted to cede the area after residents presented a petition to the board.

The Picayune School district receives about $200,000 a year from taxes levied against this territory. Last year, an additional $900,000 was garnered from lumber sales, as well.

Deanna Favre, wife of football star Brett Favre, presented a check for $117,305 to the MHG Development Foundation March 31 at the Memorial Cancer Center. The Favre Foundation raised the funds through a special charity performance by Mississippi native and country star Faith Hill on March 12. As a result of her own experience with breast cancer treatment, Mrs. Favre has championed efforts to raise funds for others who need treatment. Monies from the fundraising event were divided between Memorial and Forrest General Hospital in Hattiesburg. Kiln man injured in I-10 accident

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

Two accidents on I-10 resulted in twenty-nine injuries on Thursday morning.

A bus carrying 42 passengers crashed into an 18-wheeler near Moss Point around 5 a.m. The 18-wheeler jackknifed, and struck two other vehicles. 29 people were injured in the wreck, although there were no fatalities. Most of the injuries were confined to passengers on the bus.

Eleven patients were taken to Singing River Hospital for treatment.

A Hancock County man was also seriously injured in an accident on I-10, between the Bay St. Louis exit and the Louisiana state line.

At 7:41 a.m. Thursday, George Allen Vayansky, of Kiln, was driving west on I-10 when his vehicle, a 1996 Jeep Cherokee, ran off the right side of the road. According to the Mississippi State Highway Patrol, Vayansky overcompensated to the left, and flipped his vehicle.

The car rolled several times, and came to rest in the westbound lane pointed in the opposite direction.

Vayansky was taken to Shidell Memorial hospital, where he is still being treated for serious injuries as a WARD #3 RESIDENTS, I WANT TO BE YOUR COUNCILMAN.

...AND HERE'S WHY.

I have been a local pastor for 21 years, a local business owner for 27 years, and I'm a life-long resident of Ward #3 in Bay St. Louis. My wife, Tina, and I have raised our four daughters here and we're proud to call Bay St. Louis home. But when you take a moment to survey our ward, as I do everyday, you will discover some rather discouraging deficiencies.

There are too few safe playgrounds for our children; too few sidewalks for our seniors; too few newly paved streets with adequate drainage; too few respectable businesses wanting to locate here; too many vacant and neglected properties; too few homeowners and strong family units; too few productive citizens, due in part, to too few opportunities; and far too many broken promises.

We deserve better, and more can be done.

With my experience as a successful businessman, family man, and man of God, I have the proven leadership ability and vision necessary to bring much needed improvements to Ward #3. If elected, I will bring the highest degree of integrity, visionary leadership, and an aggressive yet cooperative work ethic to the City Council, to assure progress does not continue to elude Ward #3. You can count me to get the job done; I hope I can count on you.

Please go to the polls and elect me, Jeff Reed, as your Councilman on May 3rd.

Ward 3: Get out and vote!

Tuesday is a very important day for the residents of Ward 3, Bay St. Louis, as it is election day.

The candidates are vying for the seat of Councilman for Ward 3.

Since there are no Republican, or Independent candidates, the person elected will serve as Bay St. Louis' Ward 3 Council representative for the next four years.

Since there are three candidates in the race, one has to collect a majority of the votes cast Tuesday to be declared the victor, so a run-off may be necessary on May 17.

So, all the qualified electors of Ward 3, Bay St. Louis need to remember to go to the polls and vote for the candidate of their choice on Tuesday.

Voting will take place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Fire Station, Old Spanish Trail

This is the time of year of anxious moments for those approaching graduation from high schools.

After hitting the books for 13 years, waiting for summer vacation, as well as several breaks each school term, graduation is really a high point.

I am sure, just as when I was a student, there may be a few who can't wait until that last test is taken, it will determine as to whether they will graduate this year.

There are still much more in education necessary in today's work for high school graduate to consider too.

Whether they will attend a Community College, University, some special trade school, or possibly join the military and take advantage of the education opportunities service offers.

I know that it was sure a great day for me when graduation from high school came some 52 years ago.

Hopefully all graduates will continue to excel in their studies, because they will become our leaders of tomorrow.

There is an old saying that April Showers bring May flowers.

We should have lots of flowers in May according to the amount of rain we have had during the month of April.

This spring we sure had a lot of beautiful flowers and hopefully we will have many more as we move closer to summer.

We are fortunate to live in an area where there are some type of flowers and shrubs blooming during each month of the year.

Even the old hardy crape myrtles manage to bloom during the hottest times of the summer.

In Mississippi, the future rides rails

Mississippi was one of the first states to pioneer the use of railroads. America's third road was the West Feliciana, planned way back in 1828 and chartered in 1831. With it came the world's first standard-gauge tracks laid between Woodville and St. Francisville, Louisiana. By the Civil War, Mississippi's spider-web rail network was so critical that William T. Sherman led 20,000 Union soldiers through central Mississippi just to destroy Mississippi's rail centers. Even 175 years later, railroads remain part of our landscape, but for how long?

With my support, railroads will continue to play a vital role in Mississippi, and that includes our national rail passenger service, Amtrak.

Many question why a Senator from Mississippi is so committed to keeping alive Amtrak - a system more closely associated with big city commuters. Well, it's not due to my nostalgia for the past, but my concern for our future.

Railroads have survived so long because they are so versatile, and they have enough unexploited potential to last us another 175 years and far beyond. While today's tracks look no different than they did in 1800s

Woodville, the machinery that rolls on them is vastly improved. The Japanese and Europeans in particular have advanced rail passenger service to levels far beyond that of other nations, including ours. Many will say this is because of their compact geography which makes high-speed train usage very feasible, but that's not the whole story.

Those countries are committed to their railroads because they have to be. Their energy costs are much higher, and the advantages of electric and diesel-electric locomotion for cargo and passenger transport are self-evident. Think about it. Even America's old standard locomotives use basically the same technology that is touted in today's "new" gas/electric hybrid cars. With our own nation experiencing ever-increasing energy costs, terrorist threats and congested airports, rail passenger service certainly not only has a place, but a lot of potential sure to be needed.

Amtrak is not profitable. It has problems with its unions. It runs on freight railroads that Amtrak doesn't even own, causing delays and confusion. But simply ending all passenger rail service in America - as the Bush Administration is trying to do by zeroing-out Amtrak's budget - is very shortsighted given the uncertainty of our times. Twenty-five million Americans annually depend on Amtrak's clean, energy-efficient transport. Who is to say that another terrorist attack, another oil embargo, or any unforeseen circumstance couldn't double, triple or even quadruple that 25 million folks.

I helped craft the Amtrak Reform Act of 1997 which gave Amtrak authority to outsource some of its service

FINAL DIAGNOSIS

Don't let 'progress' ruin our beautiful home

Dear Editor,
Drive along the beach at Gulf Shores or Destin and you'll understand why "residents along the Coast are battling developers" (Sea Coast Echo, April 17th). Yet in Hancock County, the zoning board has elected to "welcome them with open arms" and has created an area with "unrestricted height and density" in Clermont Harbor.

It's understandable that the board wants to bring jobs to the area, but at what cost? Once our coastline is crowded with developments, we will have lost our most valuable asset forever. There will be no turning back once the door has been opened.

People now come to Hancock County to find exactly what we are about to destroy. Tourists aren't attracted here because we're like Destin or Gulf Shores. They are drawn here because we are one of the last remaining places in the U.S. where the coastline isn't lined with high-rise towers, where one can experience an older and more peaceful way of life. Our historic buildings, our little two lane road along the beach, the fishing boats in back yards - these things are our power, our draw and we are about to trade them away in hopes of imitating other sadly ruined places.

We can have our cake and eat it too! If this county maintains its current ambience over the next twenty years, if we keep big development out, people will be flocking here because we offer something truly unique. Already, it's happening.

Letters to the Editor

Recently a travel writer for one of the most prestigious travel magazines in the world stayed in Old Town for a week and is working on a feature about Bay St. Louis precisely because we offer a rare charm. He wrote to me, "We've been all over the world and this is one of the neatest places that we've ever seen."

Our officials need to safeguard this treasure for us, not sell it off for thirty pieces of short-sighted silver. As residents of the area, our job is to pressure them to preserve our heritage and our way of life. In the long run, it will pay off in ways that we can hardly imagine.

will be held at the Bay St. Louis fire station.

Favre said he felt his biggest accomplishments during his last term were the three miles of new drainage ditches cut in his district, the repaving of several area streets, and the construction of a senior citizen's building.

Lamplay had previously served on the city council, and Reed is a local businessman and pastor of the Power House of Deliverance Ministry.

Lamplay said her biggest immediate concern was the condition of Washington St. Specifically, she said she would seek the installation of sidewalks and streetlights in the area. She also wanted to see more programs and workshops geared towards the area's youth.

Reed said that since change affects everyone in a neighborhood, it would be crucial that they act as a team.

The general election will take place later this summer on June 7. Eddie Favre, a democrat, will run against Danny Johnson, who is campaigning on the republican ticket.

Favre has been mayor of Bay St. Louis for 16 years. Favre felt the biggest accomplishment of his last term was the national recognition that Bay St. Louis had received, such as hosting the Dixie Girls World Series, and the National League of Cities directors convention.

If reelected, Favre said, he feels the most important issues will be the annexation of the Highway 603 business corridor, and the continuation of the city's capital improvement project, which involves major repair of the drainage and road systems.

Johnson could not be reached for comment on Friday, April 29.

While incumbent Councilman-at-Large Bill Taylor and Ward Four councilman Bobby Compretta face no opposition, all other incumbents will have to defend their seats against challengers.

Democrats Doug Seal and Jim Thriffley, from wards one and two respectively, both face Republican challengers. Seal will run against Chris Vial and Thriffley against Gerald Spotorno Jr.

Suspect -- treed by K-9

Lt. Jimmy Esposito said, "I parked along the Interstate and a few minutes later saw a truck that fit the description. The river tried to hide alongside an 18-wheeler. I gave chase and he exited North on the Kiln-DeLisle Road and turned off on Road 309, and stopped and cracked the door open."

"The suspect, Ahean Alexander of Canal St., Gulfport, refused to get out of the vehicle. He closed the door then took off down the dead end road and exited the vehicle while it was still rolling and fled into the woods. I collected K-9 Dax and he was located in a tree by Dax," Esposito said.

"Alexander was charged locally with resisting arrest and possession of a stolen vehicle. He told me that he was under house arrest in Louisiana for possession of drugs, as he had a bracelet on him. Alexander was taken to the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and awaits extradition by Slidell authorities."

Esposito added.

Where the suspect was captured was right inside the Harrison County line. Slidell Police was notified and the vehicle's owner,

"who was very happy it was recovered so fast," came to claim it, a 1995 Chevy Silverado.

Backup officers included Deputies Chris Russell and Brandon Hendrick and an Investigator from Slidell came, as well as Harrison County Deputies following the arrest, Esposito reported.

The Purple Heart plaque was presented to Mrs. Claudia Baldwin, widow of Chief Joel Baldwin, who was killed in Iraq. The ceremony was held in the chapel at the Gulfport Seabee Base.

Purple Heart Aux. Unit 771 meets

This has been another busy season for the Auxiliary. During the first quarter of its formation, over 400 hours of volunteer service to worthy causes were recorded.

The Purple Heart plaque was presented to Mrs. Claudia Baldwin, widow of Chief Joel Baldwin, who was killed in Iraq. The ceremony was held in the chapel at the Gulfport Seabee Base. Auxiliary Unit 771 was represented by Nancy Cook and Yvonne Jones.

The crawfish boil at the Diamondhead Yacht Club pavilion on a beautiful spring day was a big success. Not to miss a fund raiser opportunity, the ladies brought homemade desserts and suggested donations for a serving. Sylvia Frierson's coconut cake was the most popular item on the dessert table.

The Department of Mississippi annual convention will be May 20-21 at the Biloxi Beach Resort. Election and installation of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Military Order of the Purple Heart (LAMOPH) state officers will be held then. As well, each Unit is responsible for bringing a raffle basket to generate funds for the state organization. Mary Dempsey has assembled two unique and attractive planters containing everything needed to plant a spring garden.

this was highly unusual.

"To my knowledge, it's the only county in the state that sends part of its funds to a different county."

Board member Peggy Ladner, district 4, said she thought the meeting went "unbelievably well," as many of the residents who attended were in favor of the land going back to Hancock County.

In the event of re-annexation, The Hancock County School District has offered to pay full tuition for any students who wanted to continue going to school in Picayune.

The board will decide the best method to survey residents of the area at their regular meeting on May 5th.

While many of the residents at the meeting seemed in favor of ceding the land back to the Hancock County School District, Ladner said she felt that it was the board's responsibility to acquire the money even if they were not.

"We are elected officials. We are stewards of Hancock County resources. You can't educate kids without money. I'm not sure that this is fair to the rest of the Hancock County residents. We might need to move forward with it anyway."

She added that both sides were ready to go to court, in the event of a non-amicable settlement.

es. To my dismay, it did not. It used capital which should have been devoted to operating costs to finance high-speed rail upgrades in the Northeast Corridor, and it has borrowed to pay debt. But, I'm an advocate of all forms of transportation. Our tax dollars support highways, airlines, mass transit and just about all forms of transportation -- not to make money, but to enable the making of money. These are the vessels on which our dynamic, private-sector economy depends, so I don't have a long knife drawn for Amtrak.

Rather than just permanently shutting down America's rail passenger service, the wise thing to do is to become more innovative. I want to establish bonding authority for Amtrak so that it won't have to come to Congress every year begging for more money. Amtrak's current managers are very candid about its shortcomings, and they understand the mistakes that have been made. I'm convinced they can make Amtrak work, through more innovative financing methods, including bonding.

As a nation, we have to ask ourselves: "Do we want to continue rail passenger service in America or lose that resource?" Looking into the uncertainties of our energy supply, of the terrorist threat, and of congested airports and highways, and considering the rapid rail advancements being made by other nations, I strongly believe we should continue national rail passenger service. If our economy is to continue to be the world's best, we must invest in transportation for the long term -- just like the investors in the West Feliciana Railroad did. They saw potential. They saw that the future could ride rails. Do we?

Saints look to improve offense with first pick

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The New Orleans Saints had seven picks in the 2005 NFL Draft held April 23-24. The franchise drafted three offensive players and four defensive prospects.

New Orleans traded with Houston and moved up three spots in the first round to take Oklahoma offensive tackle Jamaal Brown with the 13th overall pick.

Brown has been a starter and All-Big 12 selection the last three seasons. He stands 6-6 and weighs 316 pounds and has excellent feet and athleticism for a man his size.

He is expected to start immediately for New Orleans and bolster a rushing attack that features one of the most dangerous backs in professional football with Deuce McAllister.

Josh Bullocks, a safety from Nebraska, was taken in the second round with the 40th pick overall.

Bullocks fits the mold of a classic free safety and stands 6-0 and weighs 210 pounds. He has been clocked in the 40-yard dash in 4.49 seconds. He displayed excellent coverage instincts during his time as a Cornhusker.

In the third round, the Saints drafted Alfred Fincher from Connecticut. Fincher has been compared by many in recent days as a Sam Mills-type player. The Saints can only hope that forecast comes true.

Fincher stands 6-1 and weighs 238 pounds. He utilizes his physical tools to their utmost extent; however, he is clearly an over-achiever with marginal athleticism. But, he does display toughness and has a decent upside.

Chase Lyman was taken in the fourth round by the Saints out of California. The 6-2, 217-lb wide receiver runs a 4.54 40-yard dash. He has had some injury problems during his career but has shown flashes of excellence when healthy.

He caught 14 passes for 414 yards and five scores in 2004.

Lyman has excellent size, good hands and great instincts at the receiver position.

In the fifth round, the Saints drafted former FSU quarterback Adrian McPherson. The 6-3, 219-lb signal caller was dismissed from FSU following a well-publicized gambling scandal. He eventually would up playing in the Arena Football League after trying to catch on at Tennessee State.

McPherson is an extremely athletic quarterback but will have to overcome the stigma attached to him to succeed in the NFL.

Jason Jefferson of Wisconsin was taken by New Orleans with their sixth round selection. Jefferson is a 6-1, 310-lb defensive tackle that has displayed good instinct and durability against the run. He has the ability to develop into a situational run-stuffer but does not show the upside of developing into an every down lineman.

With their seventh round selection, the Saints chose Arizona State defensive end Jimmy Verdon.

Verdon stands 6-3 and weighs 280 pounds. He does not possess the speed to develop into a solid pass rusher with a 5-plus 40-yard dash. However, he could become a situational defensive end in running situations.

Bay-Waveland Youth Football plans expansion

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay-Waveland Youth Football Association is exploring the possibility of expanding the organization and forming its own league for the 2005 season.

For the last few years, the league has competed in the Mississippi South Football League along with the Lakeshore, Pearlington, Hancock and Lumberton leagues.

However, due to the number of participants and teams that make up the Bay-Waveland league, expansion has become the hot topic of discussion among the board members and parents.

According to Bill Dyer, commissioner for the Rules Committee and Special Events, the league passed out an informative questionnaire to the parents of participants at the conclusion of the season. One of the most frequent responses was the possibility of creating their league. And, so the discussions began.

Dyer also stated that over the course of the past three years, the league has seen a steady increase of participants which equated to higher numbers on each team. In the 6-7-8 year old division last season, the number of participants was 90-plus. While in both the 9-10 and 11-12 divisions, the numbers exceeded 70 per division. There has also been increased numbers in cheerleading, as well.

The increase in the number of participants for youth football in the Bay St. Louis league meant more games to ensure that each team from each league played each opponent twice. It also meant longer playing days coupled with more travel.

The league officials began to seriously look into expanding and creating their own league during the 2004 season because of the increased participation. Moreover, the main reason for the expansion is to help the children better understand the game of football with smaller numbers on each team.

The league hopes to have no more than 18-20 members on each team which would allow the coaches for each team to spend more time teaching the fundamentals of the game. Less team members also means more playing time on the field for each team member.

In addition to increased instruction of the game, more playing time and keeping all aspects local, the league has explored the creative idea of a 5-6 year old division of flag football.

In recent years, the league has seen that most 6 year olds are not ready to compete against the older students in their division. The creation of a 5-6 year old flag football league would allow the children to learn the basics of the game at a much slower pace and with less physical contact. In retrospect, it would better educate the child on how to play the game.

Bruce Morreale, president of the league, stated, "The addition of the 5-6 year old flag football division would educate our younger players about the game in a setting that is competitive but also limits the amount of physical contact with an older player. Plus, the flag football division will be open to boys and girls which should increase the participation numbers. The size of the field will be smaller and they will play with a smaller ball, as well. We feel that this will be a very creative option for the league and allow for better education of the game."

Board members for the 2005 season are Bruce Morreale (president), Steve Dauenhauer (vice-president), Christy Lapniewski (secretary/treasurer), Bill Dyer (rules committee/special events), Rodney Lafontaine (commissioner for football), cheerleading commissioner (vacant), and Tammy Woods (cheerleading director).

Currently, the Bay-Waveland Youth Football Association is in talks with both Bay St. Louis and Waveland on permanent playing sites. Morreale emphasized that these talks are going very well and both cities have been extremely gracious in the past with assisting the league in finding places to play. Firm locations of sites to play will be in place prior to the start of the season.

Early registration is coming up soon for the league which is when the league gains most of its participants.

The board has decided to hold early registration on May 7 and May 14 at Walmart in Waveland from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Also, early registration will take place on May 10 and May 12 from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Youth Baseball Complex on Athletic Drive. Participants will need to bring a certified copy of their birth certificate and a recent picture to registration.

Tigers force Game 7, exit playoffs; SSC & OLA claim division titles

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Tigers (16-13, 10-2) extended their season as long as they could forcing a seventh game in the Class 4A first round mini-tournament held at the Fred Weems Athletic Complex on Saturday, April 23rd.

The Tigers forced Game 7 against East Central with a thrilling 4-3 win in Game 6. The Tigers were losing 3-0 until the bottom of the fifth inning when they exploded for four runs.

Zach Thompson led off the inning with a single followed by a David Buckley walk. Two more Tigers came to the plate and were put out.

With two outs, Brad Ladner drove in Thompson with his single to make the score 4-1. Cory Jordan came to the plate and hit a hard shot to thirdbase and reached on an error. The error by East Central drove in Buckley for the second run.

Freshman Colby Adam

rightfield line that drove in Ladner and Jordan and proved to be the difference in the game.

Davi Buckley started the first game on the mound and was relieved by Trevor Adam. Cory Jordan came in as a reliever for the final five outs. Trevor Adam led the Tigers at the plate with three hits and Jordan had two hits.

In the second game, the Tigers were eliminated from the playoffs with a 7-2 loss. The Hornets jumped out to a 2-0 lead after the first inning.

The Tigers got one run back in the third inning when David Buckley got on with a single. Then, he stole second base to get into scoring position. Trevor Adam drove Buckley home with a double to make the score 2-1.

The fourth inning was the big frame for the Hornets as they scored five runs to make their final tally. In the inning, the first three batters got hits and reached base. The Tigers went to Cory Jordan on the mound; however, two batters for the Hornets had two RBIs in the inning and the Tigers were called for a balk that sent a run home.

The Tigers added two runs in the sixth inning. Ladner, Colby Adam and Chris Billingsley all singled to get on base. Steven Thebeau hit a two-RBI single to drive in the final two runs for Bay High.

Bay High head coach Mike Weems stated, "We knew coming in that it would be tough to get the sweep on East Central. We were fortunate to get Game 1. We battled in both games and had opportunities to score in Game 2 but we just did not capitalize with two outs. For the season, I cannot say enough about these players. They have worked so very hard from day one - all 24 of them. I have been very fortunate to coach these young men."

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw golf team captured the Division 8-4A title on April 20th at Diamondshead Country Club to repeat at champions.

James Wahl was low medalist with a 76 followed by Joe Muscarello's 78. The SSC golf team will compete in the state tournament on May 11-12.

The SSC/OLA tennis team grabbed the Division 8-4A team title on Thursday, April 21st at D'Iberville tallying 11 points. East Central was the division runner-up.

SSC/OLA captured both singles titles with Henderson Hewes (boys) and Christine Bratton (girls) getting the wins.

Hewes defeated East Central's Glyn Bowman 6-1 and 6-2 while Bratton downed Bay High's Hannah Johnson 7-6 and 6-1.

SSC boys doubles team of Josh Ellis/Sam Hall lost to D'Iberville's Casey Price/Lien Thai 7-6, 2-6 and 6-3.

East Central won the girls doubles title with Ashley Stauter/Amelia Knight defeating Sarah Loiacano/Katherine Lobrano of OLA 7-5 and 6-2.

Pass Christian won the mixed doubles title.

VT Halter Marine Inc., a subsidiary of Vision Technologies Systems Inc., held a keel laying ceremony Wednesday for the double-ended ferry that it is building for the Woods Hole, Martha's Vineyard, and Nantucket Steamship Authority (SSA). SSA representatives were present for the traditional celebration, which is symbolic of laying down the foundation - the

The keel laying ceremony officially commences the construction of "Island Home" a 254-foot ferry that will carry up to 1,200 passengers and 76 vehicles (cars and semi-trailers). "Island Home" will replace the 55-year old ferry "Islander" in SSA's fleet, and serve the Woods Hole to Martha's Vineyard route.

Roger Kuehn

previous hotels. His responsibilities at the 317-room Hard Rock Hotel will include the direct supervision of Reservations, Front Desk, PBX, Valet, Bell, Transportation, Housekeeping, Environmental Services, Spa, and Pool.

"We are excited to have both Roger and Cathy on board the Hard Rock team. They fill two key positions with their industry experience and familiarity with the Gulf Coast market," said President and COO, Joe Billhimer.

Hard Rock Hotel & Casino in Biloxi, Mississippi is owned and operated by Premier Entertainment Biloxi, LLC, d/b/a Hard Rock Hotel and Casino Biloxi.

Secretary of State Clark fines bogus Harrison County veterans charity

Secretary of State Eric Clark has assessed a $25,000 fine against Gulf Coast Charities-American Veteran Services and Mark A. Longnecker, both of Biloxi, for soliciting charitable donations in violation of state law.

"We are going to make sure the good name of our veterans organizations is protected and any illegal activity is quickly stopped," Clark said. "Generous Mississippians on the Gulf Coast always need to be careful."

Clark's office worked closely with Harrison County Sheriff George Payne to investigate Gulf Coast Charities and Longnecker following a complaint filed in January by a Harrison County resident. Longnecker solicited a contribution for the alleged charity stating that donations would be used to purchase Easter baskets for veterans in local nursing homes. Longnecker offered to come pick up the check at the donor's office and did so. He is believed to have received at least $6,000 in donations from unsuspecting Mississippians.

There is no evidence that any of the donations went to help veterans in Mississippi, Clark said. Gulf Coast Charities-

American Veteran Services is a Mississippi non-profit corporation with an address of 1891 Popp's Ferry Road in Biloxi. The address is a trailer park. Longnecker is the group's sole officer. This charity is not registered with the Secretary of State's Office to solicit contributions as required by law.

"Any time a person volunteers to come pick up a donation, it should raise a red flag with potential donors," Clark said. "I would encourage all Mississippians, before making a donation, to call the Secretary of State's Office and confirm that the charity is legitimate. Never give cash. Most charities sincerely want to help people, but there are rip-offs out there. Our citizens need to give generously but also give wisely."

project at Point Clear.

County officials hope that the breakwater will help slow down the erosion of the point caused by both wind and wave action, said Congressman Gene Taylor's representative Chris Lagarde on Thursday. Point Clear is identified as one of the most endangered shore lines in Mississippi, he said.

The county will be going out for bid on the construction of the breakwater which will be built parallel to the shore, Lagarde said. The project will be funded with CIAP funds-federal funds given back to coastal states to offset the impact of off shore oil drilling operations.

The 20th SRG is a contingency construction crew, said Equipment Operator First Class Shane Breyette. The unit carries out emergency construction in foreign combat areas trains in Gulfport.

With three available trucks that can move two to three pilings on each trip, the operation will be going on for a while, the pilings will be stored at Bayou Caddy until construction time. County heavy equipment operator Gerald Shaw helped unload the pilings.

Author Dayne Sherman to speak at Hancock County library program

Authors & Characters @ Your Library

Author Dayne Sherman will highlight the Hancock County Library System's Authors & Characters @ Your Library series Tuesday, May 3 at 11:45 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. Sherman is author of Welcome to the Fallen Paradise, which was named one of four 'best debuts' for 2004 by the Times Picayune newspaper.

Lunch is available for the program for $5 with advance reservations. To hold your spot, call 467-5282.

Sherman is a former high school dropout from Natalbany, Louisiana. He earned a Master's Degree from Louisiana State University in 1997, and is now Assistant Professor of Literature at Southeastern Louisiana University. Some of his short stories have been published in various publications, including Stories from the Blue Moon Cafe III.

Welcome to the Fallen Paradise is about Baxter Parish, Louisiana, a bloody place where family tradition is stronger than law and pride more valuable than life. Thirty-year-old Jesse Tadlock returns home to Mount Olive after a peaceful, if not dull, twelve-year Army hitch to claim his inheritance. With a steady job, a past love back in his life, and his own land, he thinks he's outlasted the legacy of violence that has haunted his family.

More information on the program is available by calling 467-5282.

StenniSphere opens exhibit honoring return to flight

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Get ready for liftoff of NASA's Space Shuttle Discovery as it prepares to Return to Flight!

StenniSphere, the visitor center at NASA's Stennis Space Center in south Mississippi, will celebrate the historic launch with a new exhibit opening May 2. NASA's Return to Flight mission for the Space Shuttle, designated STS-114, is targeted for launch May 22 in a launch window that extends to June 3. It will be the first Space Shuttle launch since the loss of Space Shuttle Columbia in 2003.

Visitors can sign their names to a special banner offering good wishes to the seven-astronaut crew, and can experience a Space Shuttle launch in the Shuttle Launch Experience. Displays feature the Return to Flight mission and its crew and the role Stennis Space Center has played in returning the Shuttle to safe flight.

Space Shuttle Discovery will travel to the International Space Station with seven crew members: Commander Eileen M. Collins, Pilot James M. Kelly, and Mission Specialists Charles Camarda, Wendy Lawrence, Soichi Noguchi, Stephen Robinson and Andrew Thomas. On its 12-day mission, the crew test new equipment and procedures intended to make Shuttles safer, as well as will deliver food, water and experiments to the International Space Station.

The three Space Shuttle

Main Engines that will propel Discovery into orbit were tested at Stennis Space Center, where all the Shuttle's Main Engines have been tested and proven flight-worthy since 1975. Stennis Space Center has played a key role in ensuring the Space Shuttle is ready to fly safely again.

The Space Shuttle's Return to Flight begins the journey to finish construction of the International Space Station, return to the Moon and go on to explore Mars and the solar system. Discoveries from these explorations will continue to advance scientific knowledge as well as lead to the development of new, everyday technologies.

Stennis Space Center is located in Hancock County, Miss., near Bay St. Louis.

Stennis Space Center's visitor center, StenniSphere, offers free tours of America's largest rocket-test complex. Tours to StenniSphere begin at 10 a.m. from the Launch Pad, located at the Mississippi Welcome Center, Interstate 10, Exit 2. A photo ID is required for admission. For more information, call (800) 237-1821 or (228) 688-2370; or visit www.nasa.gov/centers/stennis/home/index.html and click on the StenniSphere logo.

Gardner, others honored with Leo W. Seal Teacher Awards

THE SEA COAST ECHO

While many Mississippi educators are struggling with financial freezes, six area teachers have used their instructional expertise and creative learning ideas to earn $1,000 grants earmarked for innovative classroom projects affording value-added educational opportunities for local schoolchildren.

For the 10th consecutive year, Hancock Bank presented outstanding South Mississippi teachers with the Leo W. Seal Teacher Recognition Awards for exceptional, curriculum-enhancing proposals that reinforce state educational requirements and complement students' classroom experiences.

Selected based on past and proposed classroom teaching applications, recipients of the 2005 Seal awards are Jean R. Gardner of East Hancock Elementary School in Kiln; Stacey L. Hales of Nichols Elementary School in Biloxi; Pamela H. Kraft of Oak Grove Upper Elementary School in Hattiesburg; Ellen B. Peresich of Popp's Ferry Elementary School in Biloxi; Erika M. Reynolds of Arlington Elementary School in Pascagoula; and Joyce L. Youngblood of Anniston Avenue Elementary School in Gulfport.

"On this 10-year anniversary of the Leo W. Seal Teacher Awards program, we are honored to recognize these educators for their exemplary commitment to South Mississippi's young people. These teachers' creative classroom instruction helps bring learning to life," said Hancock Bank President and Chief Executive Officer George A. Schloegel. "We appreciate the award recipients' dedication and thank all of our educational professionals for helping ensure a bright future for our children."

In fall 2005, teachers, parents, and students nominated more than 100 kindergarten through 12th-grade teachers from school districts in Forrest, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Lamar, Pearl River, and Jefferson Davis counties for the Seal awards. Teachers receiving invitations to submit full project proposals presented their ideas to an independent selection committee comprising representatives from the seven counties and not affiliated with Hancock Bank.

Each winning teacher received a one-time $1,000 grant funded by Hancock Bank and a pewter apple handcrafted exclusively for Hancock Bank by John Cannon of Ballard Pewter Ltd., in Ocean Springs.

Established in 1994, the Leo W. Seal awards laud teaching excellence and individual contributions to South Mississippi education and support teachers by funding original classroom teaching initiatives. The awards commemorate the leadership and achievements of the late Leo W. Seal, Sr., Hancock Bank president from 1932 until his death in 1963, and his son, current Hancock Holding Company chairman Leo W. Seal, Jr., in facilitating economic growth and educational opportunities across the region. The Gulf Coast Community Foundation (GCCF) manages the endowment as a permanent fund of the GCCF's Pat Santucci Friends of Public Education program.

Forms for 2006 nominations will be available in late September at all public school offices and Hancock Bank locations in Forrest, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Lamar, Pearl River, and Jefferson Davis counties or from GCCF (phone: 228-436-4441).

The Winning Proposals
Jean R. Gardner - East Hancock Elementary

Jean Gardner

School: Gardner's "Adventures in Architecture" will help children at East Hancock Elementary School envision the structure of their world, hone creative problem-solving skills through hands-on construction experiments, and understand the relationships among design, form, and function. Students embarking on "Adventures" will study architectural concepts and actually design, diagram, investigate, and evaluate infrastructures, and construct efficient models to coexist with the surrounding environment and landscape. As students become more competent "builders," the project will culminate with Gardner's students helping to design and construct a bridge on East Hancock County Elementary's campus.

Stacey L. Hales - Nichols Elementary School. Hales will collaborate with the NASA Ambassador Program to incorporate a simulated space shuttle and lab at Nichols Elementary School as part of her "3,2,1, Blast Off!" project. "Blast Off!" will provide an integrated, interactive approach to enhancing students' comprehension of basic scientific concepts using a solar system model and, ultimately, help whet students' interest in science career fields. Approximately 300 students will calculate distance and weight using varied mathematical applications, study the anatomies of the Earth and moon, take virtual tours of the universe, discover vital statistics about the sun and surrounding planets, and share their out-of-this-world experiences with fellow students, parents, teachers, and the community.

Pamela H. Kraft - Oak Grove Upper Elementary School. Oak Grove Upper Elementary School's Kraft will correlate biology, earth and space, and physical science curriculum objectives with reference and research skills for 650 fourth- and fifth-graders with "Look It Up!" Kraft designed the project to help students become efficient learners who can effectively use information available through print and online resources such as dictionaries, thesauruses, atlases, encyclopedias, and almanacs. Oak Grove students will engage in incentive-based, individual research efforts and small group projects spotlighting a specific scientific phenomenon, develop reports detailing their observations, and understand myriad resources available through today's school libraries and media centers. The Mississippi Curriculum Test will help evaluate students' success in the program, and Kraft's proposal will provide the school's library media specialist and teachers with materials to teach research skills to students.

Ellen B. Peresich - Popp's Ferry Elementary School. Peresich's "Fifth-Grade American Government Lesson" illustrates for students the Founding Father's vision for America, with particular emphasis on the rights and responsibilities of actively participating in the election process. Through traditional teaching, video instruction, writing, and role-playing, about 100 students enrolled at Popp's Ferry Elementary School will study the growth of the United States of America as a republic, learn basic principles of a democracy, and compare American freedoms to liberties available to - or denied - other members of the global community. As the project concludes, students will learn and use audiovisual technology to develop and share a PowerPoint presentation about American government with fourth-grade students.

Erika M. Reynolds - Arlington Elementary School. "Character Counts" will enable Reynolds to establish a Character Education Resource Center at Arlington Elementary School that helps instill a core set of values supporting students throughout their lives. Based on a nationwide movement and reflecting mandates of Mississippi's core curriculum, the project provides materials complementing instruction in six character building blocks: trustworthiness, respect, responsibility, fairness, caring, and citizenship.

In turn, children will learn character education, conflict resolution and non-violent problem-solving, critical-thinking skills, and cooperation, and will develop character traits essential to becoming productive adults. As students exhibit more self-respect and appropriate regard for classmates, teachers can focus more on the teaching and less on disciplining disruptive students.

Joyce L. Youngblood - Anniston Avenue Elementary School. By "Exploring Our World," Youngblood will broaden students' interest in science, math, and geography and foster independent learning in those disciplines for all students using Anniston Avenue Elementary School's media center. With interactive models, microscopes, and team responder systems such as a quiz bowl, students will cultivate and retain basic knowledge of science, math, and geography facts pertinent to students' success on statewide science tests slated to begin in 2006. Youngblood's project will benefit approximately 600 students and expand resources available for teachers to supplement current units of study or classroom demonstrations.

Miss Mittie remembers Gainesville

Lost Communities

Hancock native recalls the days before the county was re-shaped by NASA

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The coming of the Stennis Space Center to Hancock County in the early 1960's displaced the entire town of Gainesville, including those residents who had already met their maker. The town and the cemetery alike were uprooted and moved to other locations. But the giant Buffer Zone surrounding the rocket testing facility displaced even more families when it was decided that no enclosed structures could remain in the area. But the cemeteries for towns such as Logtown, Westonia and Bayou La Croix, still remain today, along with many private family cemeteries.

When the Space Center came to the county Mittie Maskew Zengarling and Herbert "Bully" Zengarling were busy raising their five small children in their home not too far from the Bayou La Croix Cemetery. The family was living the country life in a house they had built together. The two had known each other just about all their lives.

When Mittie's parents, Alice Holden Maskew (of Logtown) and Willie Maskew (of Seminary) moved their service station and store further down Hwy. 43 to the intersection of the newly built Hwy. 90, Willie traded for three acres there and bought another one from Bully's father Joe.

"They were then our neighbors in the back," said Miss Mittie.

Bully was 11 years older and one of Mittie's first memories of him was an embarrassing one. Mittie and her little brother Monnel, were bathing in a washtub out back of the station and Bully picked up the tub and carried it up front for all to see.

"We were naked in that washtub and he carried us out for everyone to see," said Miss Mittie. "He didn't know then that I would be his wife when he came back from the war."

The two started dating when Mittie was in high school and Bully bought the box supper that Mittie had prepared. Women would prepare box suppers and the men would bid on them, she said.

"I thought he was an old man and I didn't want him to buy my supper," she said. But Mittie's attitude changed. The couple married in 1951. "He was the love of my life," she said. "He was a wonderful man, and everybody loved him." (After Bully's death in 1993 Mittie married Glen Smith, who recently passed away.)

Bully supported the family by working in the timber and oil industries and also served as county supervisor and on the Port and Harbor Commission.

Like most people in the area, the family lived a simple life. They kept a milk cow, chickens, ducks, turkeys, goats and sheep, and planted rows and rows of corn and other vegetables. Bully would also hunt coons and give many of those away after storing them overnight in the ice box, Miss Mittie said.

"It was a regular old

Miss Mittie Maskew Zengarling Smith at her home in Bay St. Louis. The old church bell from Holy Cross Church in Bayou La Croix has a new home in the bell tower in her back yard.

McDonald's farm" said Miss Mittie. "I went to the grocery store every Thursday at Welmers and traded eggs for some of the groceries. Mr. Sol Cuevas would stop by the house every day on his way home from work and buy a gallon of milk. It was a good life."

Mittie remembers her childhood as a good but disciplined time. Her father

Willie was a strict disciplinarian, she said.

"When it was time for bed, he didn't have to tell us; he just looked over at the clock and we went to bed. Every Friday evening we got a Carter's Little Liver Pill and in the spring time we got several drops of turpentine in water as a treatment for worms," she said.

Both Alice and Willie were hard workers. Willie came down from Seminary

Diamondhead Performing Arts Society presents EHE check for music department

THE SEA COAST ECHO
 At the PTO meeting of EHE on April 12, the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society (DPAS) presented a check for $250 to Ms. Shauna Boyer, music teacher and chorus director. EHE student body draws over 50% of their students from Diamondhead.

The fifth and sixth grade chorus traveled to Diamondhead many times over the Christmas holidays performing for organizations. To make their performances more enjoyable they need traveling risers so that the entire chorus can see Boyer and the audience can see each child's face. The risers are very expensive, $800 for a section like the one shown in the picture.

The school has had numerous fund raisers and will continue through out the 2005-2006 school year in order to purchase enough risers for their needs.

Boyer purchased the two-foot wide riser rows so that all grades may use them for performances.

The first graders were to use them for their performance on the night of April 12, sitting on the tiers to perform.

DPAS seeks to contribute back to the community for the arts. This donation was the result of the proceeds from the 2004 Magnolia Ball. DPAS has begun its annual patron drive. If you are interested in receiving information, please call Josette Grace, 255-2861.

'A Midsummer Night's Dream' scheduled at Hancock High

A couple with marital difficulties, young lovers who elope because of a disapproving father, a boastful man who makes an ass of himself, these are elements common to many romantic comedies. Then you throw in some fairies (a lot of fairies) along with some of the most eloquent dialogue ever written and William Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream emerges.

Hancock High School invites everyone to take a trip with them to a mythological ancient Greece where the Duke of Athens prepares to wed the Queen of the Amazons. However, an angry father whose daughter Hermia refuses to marry the man her father has chosen for her interrupts their nuptial plans. Coincidentally, the king and queen of the fairies begin to quarrel in the woods outside of Athens while a group of workingmen plan to put together a play for the Duke's wedding. When the young lovers decide to elope and flee into the woods at night where the players have met to rehearse they all wind up at the mercy of the fairies, particularly the mischievous Puck. Will the king and queen make peace? Will the lovers escape the angry father? What about the actor who turns into a donkey? Is there enough magic in the evening to sort it all out?

Just go one mile north of I-10 on Highway 603 and join director Jay Coker and Hancock High Theatre on Friday, May 6, or Saturday, May 7, in the commons at 8 p.m. for the fun and hilarity. Tickets are $5 each and will be available at the door. Call 467-2251 for directions to the school commons.

Dear _____
(Insert name of your current wireless provider here)

It's not you, it's me. OK, it's you. Like the fact that you didn't give me an automatic minute credit for dropped calls. I mean, it's your network. And what about letting me change plans without extending my contract? We had a good run and all, but I really didn't appreciate you tying me down to such a commitment. Shouldn't I be allowed to change my mind? And why didn't you give me unlimited calls home from my cell phone? You know how important my family is to me.

I just can't go on like this anymore. I've found another company that understands my needs and treats me with respect. I mean, once you find that, what's not to love?

Best of luck to ya.

Mittie -- Gainesville

to work at the Weston Lumber Company and when he started his family they lived in a company house in Weston.

Mittie was born there. Willie drove the train for the company and he would signal Alice of his homecoming by blowing the train whistle. When the whistle blew it meant that it was time to put on the biscuits, Miss Mittie said.

Willie suspected that the Weston Lumber company might go out of business in the not too distant future and so he decided to invest in the service station. When he bought the two room building the family moved into it. Mittie was just a baby. The first location was a ways up Hwy. 43, but when Hwy. 90 came through a few years later, traffic for the business slowed way down. At that time, Willie and Alice put the station up on logs and rolled it to its new location, a little ways each day.

"Every day the school bus would pick us up wherever the station was and every afternoon it would drop us off wherever it had moved to," said Miss Mittie. "We would walk behind it till dark and then go inside and go to sleep and the school bus would find us the next morning. It wasn't really much different because we didn't ever have electricity or running water anyway."

While Willie was working at Weston, Alice ran the station by herself. At night they kept the station open by burning lanterns for light. Alice would bake pies and cakes and serve coffee to everyone that came by, which was just about everyone. At Christmas, she would make her famous fruit cake.

"Every day mama would pour a cup of whiskey into the cake and by the time it was ready you could smell it everywhere when you took the lid off," Miss Mittie said. "She made chicken and dumplings and if she you knew you, you were going to get something to eat. I don't know if she made much money selling food or coffee.

"We were allowed to play for an hour each day. We got up early and made the coffee on the wood stove and took it to mama and daddy. We also had to pump up the gas with a handle into the big glass enclosures each day and let it back down into the storage tank at night.

"And someone had the job of bringing in a taking out the slop jar. After we cleaned the kitchen we could go outside and play with our little white spitz dog."

The family was Baptist (Miss Mittie became a Catholic after marrying Bully) and attended church in Logtown.

After church the kids would skate at the Masonic Hall across the street, Miss Mittie said. She remembers Bully's mother Velma making wonderful home baked bread in an oven in the yard and serving it buttered, with a glass of milk.

When the Space Center arrived Alice and Willie moved to Waveland and opened a boarding house on Nicholson Avenue.

Mittie and Bully and their children moved to Bay St. Louis to a house on Citizen St.

There were still many good memories like Roy Baxter flying in Santa Claus in to the Sound by Washington Ave. in his sea plane, and Santa walking to shore in his fishing boots.

The family kept their land at Bayou La Croix and like many who were residents of the lost communities displaced by the Space Center, they chose to just lease it to the federal government. Mittie and Bully took in the church bell from Holy Cross Church there and cared for it through the years. Many people thought that the government would allow them to return to their land after a while, but that hasn't happened.

When Miss Mittie moved to her new home ten years ago, she decided that the bell had been waiting to go home too long and had a new home built for it, a bell tower in her back yard, where it lives today.

Diamondhead blood drive

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Generous blood donors from the Diamondhead area don't even have to leave home to help save lives as the summer months approach. Local residents are hosting a "Community That Cares" community-wide blood drive with the American Red Cross on Wednesday, May 4 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center.

The luau-themed blood drive has been organized in an effort to help boost the Coast's blood supply by at least 100 pints as May marks the start of critical blood shortages in our area and across the country during the summer months.

Collecting 100 pints of blood would set a record for blood donations at a drive in Diamondhead. Blood supplies in the region have been at less than a one-day supply of several types, making it difficult to meet the everyday blood needs of patients in the area and jeopardizing the supply in the case of an emergency or disaster.

The drive is open to all eligible blood donors and donors will receive a free Hawaiian-themed T-shirt and a red "Give Blood" Awarenessbands bracelet. Several local merchants are donating food for the blood drive as a way to show their support of this lifesaving effort.

Diamondhead residents have been planning and organizing this blood drive since early March and are teaming up with local churches and businesses to encourage people to give blood in a community that cares for others.

To donate blood you must be 17 years old or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, be in good health and have not given blood in the past 56 days. There is no upper age limit to donate blood.

Recently, the American Red Cross made revisions to their list of blood donor criteria. The tattoo eligibility has changed. Individuals with a recent tattoo will be acceptable for donation now as long as the tattoo was applied in a state regulated establishment using single-use needles and single-use ink.

Travel restrictions regarding vCJD, also known as Mad Cow Disease, are being loosened slightly as ongoing scientific studies have lessened concerns regarding the risk of contracting vCJD by eating beef in certain countries. This allowed the Red Cross to adopt less stringent Food and Drug Administration guidelines relating to donor travel to the United Kingdom and parts of Europe.

These new guidelines will allow donors who were indefinitely deferred to once again donate blood. As of March 21, 2005 a donor will be deferred if he/she has spent a cumulative time of 5 years or more in Europe from January 1, 1980 to the present.

The previous criteria deferred a donor after six months time. There are still some further restrictions for donors who were members of the U.S. military, civilian military employees or a dependent of either associated with a military base in any of the following areas during the following time frames: if a donor spent a cumulative time or six months or more from 1980 through 1990 in Belgium, the Netherlands, or Germany or if a donor spent a cumulative time of six months or more from 1980 through 1996 in Spain, Portugal, Turkey, Italy or Greece they will still be indefinitely deferred.

Donors who have already been indefinitely deferred by the American Red Cross during the medical history at a blood drive since October 2001 cannot be reinstated at a blood drive. Affected donors will be notified by the Red Cross no later than July 1, 2005. A blood donor must have received a letter from the Red Cross before they will be permitted to donate.

For more information about being a blood donor, please call the American Red Cross at 896-2217. To schedule an appointment to donate blood or to volunteer to help at the blood drive or donate coupons or door prizes, please contact Ray or Pat Sheehy in Diamondhead at 255-0922.

Learning to Sow Good Seeds

Just as farmers will sow seeds in order to raise their crops, those who follow God's ways are sowing seeds of our Lord's love. In the Bible, we are told the Parable of the Sower, who scattered his seeds in the field: some seeds fell along the path and the birds ate them; some fell on rocky ground where there was little soil; and, some fell among the thorn bushes, which grew up and choked the plants. But still, some seeds fell upon good soil, and these plants sprouted and bore much grain. Our Lord explains this Parable by saying that some people hear the message and disregard it, while others receive the message, but when trouble and persecution comes they simply give up. Still, there are others who hear the message, but the worries and concerns about this life choke out the good news. And then, there are those who hear the message, accept it, and bear much fruit. The way we live our lives should be an example for those around us, and we should try to reflect the love and compassion of our Heavenly Father. Nurturing and improving our relationship with God, and living our lives in a way that is pleasing to Him, will help us to sow seeds that bear good fruit.

You did not choose me; I chose you and appointed you to go and bear much fruit, the kind of fruit that endures.

Don't roll the dice on your health

You have cancer!" Laura Ingram heard those dreaded words only after weeks of playing cat and mouse with the diagnosis of her breast indisposition. One doctor even told her there was nothing to be concerned about, since the knot detected in her breast was so small.

However, she sought out another doctor who told her, "That lump in your breast may be very small, but let's get it out of there and do a biopsy as soon as possible! You cannot afford to take a chance on not getting a clear diagnosis!"

Laura had been through the mammogram routine with regularity, but those tests had never shown any sign of the lump. Apart from the mammograms, she had recourse to an MRI examination which, oddly, did not show any sign of cancer. At the point, she had not taken the time to use any other means of diagnosis.

Finally, she submitted to an ultrasound test which turned up the telltale lump. Now everything was on a fast track toward surgery and chemotherapy. Her whole world had suddenly come crashing down all around her as she faced illness and possible death. She was now surrounded by the dreaded unknown in an environment of medical terror.

We are told by cancer survivors that, no matter what reading or discussions one may have engaged in beforehand, an initial confrontation with cancer always boils down to a Cancer 101 course being experienced and learned in a state of extreme preoccupation. "One in every eight women will battle breast cancer at some time in their life," is the most recent health survey findings. This adds urgency to all the other serious health facts about family genetics, lumps, pains and feelings of general malaise. By no means should women ever hesitate or procrastinate, rolling the dice on the state of their overall health.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

"I don't want to know!" is the bewildering statement made by a disturbing number of people who seem to have some indication of illness. Apparently, they do not understand that the worst negative stress of all is rooted in the secretly gnawing fear of the unknown.

Whether macho or whatever, men are the ones most delinquent in paying timely visits to their doctor, but women sometimes get caught up in the fear factor of disease which feeds on itself and succeeds only in defeating the possibility of early detection. Without early detection, the odds of arresting cancer are drastically reduced by the week.

This is especially true of certain galloping cancers which progress with alarming speed and malignity. Thus, Laura Ingram describes hers as "an angry cancer" which began to run through her system with very little time for treatment or margin for error.

First of all, women should do frequent mammograms, at least once a year. Where there are suspicious indications, MRI and ultrasound should be added to the arsenal of inquiry. Laura would add that no one should hesitate to seek a second opinion of another doctor, for she bemoans the fact that she did not have herself checked so often as mandated.

What about other preventive measures which can stack the odds in favor of sustained robust health? Take smoking, for instance. Although not usually connected with breast cancer, smoking is so wrapped up into the entire fabric of health issues, more especially for women than for men, that it is literally slow suicide to pursue the vice of smoking.

Then there is the annoying consideration of what not to eat and what to eat. Caffeine is a relentless seducer which has a hold on most people. It has a great aroma and, to most people, an outstanding flavor. Plus, it helps keep most people awake, though not an exception like me.

Unfortunately, caffeine contributes heavily to breast cancer.

Sadly, it is not just coffee which is a carrier of caffeine. There are others equally or almost equally strong such as certain teas, Classic Coke and chocolate. Decaffeination is an option for some items, but is not possible for others.

Meats, especially beef, have a known statistical and very negative connection with breast cancer. Japanese women living in Japan are rarely troubled by breast cancer. However, those who migrate to the United States, where there is a much higher consumption of beef than in Japan, are afflicted as other American women are.

There is a companion statement which extends beyond breast cancer and involves both women and men. People who refrain entirely from eating heavy meats such as beef have a zero occurrence of colon cancer. Indeed, some developing countries, which are too poor to have the luxury of meats for eating, have no knowledge nor incidence of colon cancer.

Ditto for prostate cancer which rarely occurs without a steady tattoo of animal products being ingested and invading the stomach, the intestines and one's entire body. The sticky cholesterol of animal products lays siege to each cell of the body, crippling it in general and triggering diabetes in particular by covering up the insulin receptors of every cell. "I've got to die of something!" is the other refrain heard in regard to health risks such as smoking and abstinence from animal products. "And, since I'm going to die some day, I may as well die happy, doing something which gives me some pleasure."

This fatalistic/hedonistic attitude is essentially a conscious option to enjoy life's creature comforts at the expense of one's health and well-being. Which, then, is more enjoyable ultimately? Immersing oneself into, insulating oneself with creature comforts despite eventual, painful disease? Forgoing creature comforts to enjoy robust health?

All of these things are reducible to tough love choices with regard to loving oneself. Will I allow myself to live a more pleasurable life now and suffer the consequences of painful, debilitating physical afflictions as I grow older and more vulnerable?

Or shall I make and follow all or at least most of the hard choices now and suffer the hardships of depriving myself of A-1 foods and drinks? There are those who say this tough self-love is simply not worth it, what with the woes of old age still afar off.

Yet, the haunting question remains whether cancer or something else will claim you before then.

Scripture Says

By Ed Young

The Word of God

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God." (John 1.1,2)

The Word is the Son of God, Jesus, who is the second God of the Trinity.

He is God who created the heavens and formed the earth in Genesis, first chapter, first verse. In Him was the life and the light unto all men. He is the Word of Life.

The scriptures proclaim in the book of Psalm, chapter 119, verse 11, "Your Word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against you."

The Word, Jesus brings salvation." In verse 50, "This is my comfort in my affliction, for your Word has given me life." Jesus brings healing. Verse 74 says, "Those who fear you will be glad when they see me, because I have hope in your Word." Jesus does bring hope. Verse 105, "Your Word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path" Jesus will guide you through life.

In the New Testament, Book of John, writes, "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His Glory, the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth." (John 1.14)

In the Book of Revelation, John writes, "He was clothed with a robe dipped in blood and His name is called the Word of God."

The holy scriptures tell us throughout the Bible to learn of the Son of God, Jesus. He is the way, the truth, and the life.

So, should we talk to Him in prayer and in scripture readings? Should we ask the Word of Life to come into our life? Should we ask Him, to give us salvation, healing, hope, and to direct our life? Should we?

Every man has a price

Every man has his price. Have you ever heard this expression? Let us consider David, that great, hand-picked, man of God.

David had everything: power, wealth, prestige, and health. What else could the man desire? Yet, he submitted to the temptation of lust, and we know how dearly David paid for his sin.

This led me to thinking. For lack of a better title, I am going to call these the "Laws of Sin." See if you agree.

1. At a given point of temptation, lust will prevail over virtue. 2. At a given point of temptation, greed will prevail over need. 3. At a given point of temptation, lies will prevail over truth. 4. At a given point of temptation, need will prevail over convention. 5. At a given point of temptation, power starts to corrupt. 6. And, on the lighter side, to quote "Pogo": "The mind is important but the mind rules."

This is my point: Mortal man, by nature, is corrupt. He is weak, he is imperfect, he is subject to temptations, and he is guilty of sin. Am I correct? Is this the way in your life?

Are you stronger than Adam? Stronger than David?

Stronger than Peter? Of course you are not. This is why we need the church and the fellowship of other Christians.

There is strength in numbers. When we study together, pray together, break bread together, worship together, witness together, read the Bible together, share our problems, and take the high road; when we do these things, we are in training against temptation.

Our tolerance toward temptation is as different as we, as individuals, are different. Our tolerance is also different toward different temptations. For instance, take the sin of David, adultery. This was a major thing. It had to be planned. There were opportunities to back out, to reconsider. There was time to think of the consequences. But take lying - we can do that so quickly. And we do it so often that some of us are not even aware that we do it.

As you submit to some temptation, think about it. At what point did you go over the brink? When could you have backed out? At what point were you committed?

Temptation to sin is to be resisted if we are to keep out of a lot of trouble. The best way to resist temptation is to stay out of harm's way.

If guest star Schuyler Fisk looks vaguely familiar during her Tuesday, May 3, appearance on The WB Network drama "One Tree Hill," it may have to do with her mother, who is Oscar winner Sis- sypac.

Fisk plays a young woman named Daytona — keep reading, you'll see why — who challenges Nathan and Lucas (James Lafferty, Chace Michael Murray) to a car race that ends tragically. Daytona's brother is played by Stuart Lafferty, James' sibling.

Oliver Martinez ("Unfaithful") sold jeans after quitting school early, until friends convinced him to try acting class.

Lela Rochon ("Waiting to Exhale") used her dancing talents in commercials and in Lionel Richie's 1983 video for "All Night Long."

Barry Watson ("7th Heaven") left home at 15 and landed a six-month gig on "Days of our Lives," then returned home to finish high school.

Bryan Cranston ("Malcolm in the Middle") did English-dubbing for a Japanese cartoon under the name Lee Stone.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

All of Us

Paula Abdul and singer Keyshia Cole guest star as themselves in the new episode "Hollywood Swinging," which finds Robert's (Duane Martin) new-found fame from his "Entertainment Tonight" gig going to his head. Neesee (Lisa Raye McCoy) rethinks her relationship with Rusty (David Ramsey) when it becomes clear that her expensive tastes are too much for him.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

House

The hospital is stretched to the breaking point by a meningitis scare. House (Hugh Laurie) is focusing on a 12-year-old girl whose symptoms are almost, but not quite, those of meningitis. Cuddy (Lisa Edelstein) insists House and his team spend only one more hour on the tough case, then get to work on the backlog of patients. A surprise discovery has them scrambling to do both in the new episode "Kids."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

Cheryl (Courtney Thorne-Smith) throws a bachelorette party for Dana (Kimberly Williams). Actually, "gently pitches" underhand is a better description than "throws": the event is much too tame for Dana's tastes. So Jim and Andy (Jim Belushi, Larry Joe Campbell) take her out for some hearty partying. She enjoys herself immensely but may find it difficult getting to the church on time in the new episode "The Bachelorette Party."

8 p.m. on 38-WB

One Tree Hill

Nathan and Lucas (James Lafferty, Chad Michael Murray) go on a racing trip with Nathan's uncle (guest star Michael Trucco). A brother and sister (guest stars Stuart Lafferty and Schuyler Fisk) challenge them to a race that ends in disaster. Deb's (Barbara Alyn Woods) paintball addiction gets worse. Dan (Paul Johansson) outs Andy and Karen (Kieran Hutchinson, Mo'Nique Kelly) in the new episode "In Wide Awake, It's Morning."

8 p.m. on 8-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

The new episode "Night" begins a crossover story with "Law & Order: Trial by Jury." A guest star (Alicia Gimpel) from "Mojave" from a wealthy family is Benson and Stabler's (Mariska Hargitay, Chris Meloni) prime suspect in a series of rapes. The evidence, however, is sketchy, thanks in part to his mother (guest star Angela Lansbury), who has been covering for him. Bebe Neuwirth appears as Tracey Kibre from "Trial by Jury," which follows with the conclusion.

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

Veronica Mars

After asking many questions about the events at that fateful party a year earlier, Veronica (Kristen Bell) finally learns the truth about her drugging and assault that night. Alicia (Erica Gimpel) complains to Keith (Enrico Colantoni) about Veronica and Wallace's (Percy Daggs III) behavior when one of their stunts hurts her at work. Aaron (Harry Hamlin) throws a party for Logan (Jason Doherty) in the new episode "A Trip to the Dentist."

8 p.m. and DSC

Deadliest Catch

In the fourth installment of this series about Alaskan king crab fishermen, the abbreviated season is down to its final half day. Fishermen scramble to get as many of the crabs into their boats holding tanks as possible, battling turbulent waters and mechanical problems. Time is also critical at the unloading stage: a boat that lags behind in the race to the plants could face a wait of several days.

9 p.m. on 19-PBS

Independent Lens

"The Last Letter," a beautifully understated Holocaust story, is award-winning filmmaker Frederick Wiseman's ("Wellfame") first fictional film. French actress Catherine Samel plays a doomed Russian Jewish doctor who dictates a final letter to her son, reflecting on her life, her impending death, the horror of Nazi rule and the kindness of neighbors. The film is packaged with two Holocaust-related shorts.

Kirsten (Kelly Rowland) shuts Sandy (Peter Gallagher) out after he questions her about her drinking. Marissa's (Mischa Barton) nervous behavior has Ryan (Benjamin McKenzie) suspecting something happened between her and Trey (Logan Marshall-Green). 7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: My Big Fat Greek Wedding

A defining movie of 2002, this hugely successful and entertaining comedy transfers writer and star Nia Vardalos' stage show to film, thanks to producers Tom Hanks and Rita Wilson. Vardalos plays a Greek woman who risks her tradition-bound family's wrath when she falls for, then plans to wed, a decidedly non-Greek educator (John Corbett, "Sex and the City"). Michael Constantine, Lainie Kazan and Joey Fatone co-star.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Joey

Is Joey's (Matt LeBlanc) relationship with Sara (Madchen Amick) in trouble when he fails to return her "I love you"? We're not telling, but we will tell you this new episode is called "Joey and the Break-Up." Gina (Drea de Matteo) joins Michael (Paulo Costanzo) for brunch with his new girlfriend (guest star Deborah Theaker, "Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events").

8 p.m. on HALL

Movie: Love Comes Softly

A widowed pioneer woman (Katherine Heigl) enters into a marriage of convenience with a widower (Dale Midkiff) in this 2003 period drama. She's planning to go back East when spring comes, but as she grows closer to her husband and his daughter (Skye McCole Bartusick), her heart begins to make other plans. Corbin Bernsen and Theresa Russell also star.

9:45 p.m. on AMC

Movie: Sands of Iwo Jima

One of John Wayne's best-remembered movies; this 1949 war classic casts him as a rugged Marine sergeant who's in charge of getting a group of raw recruits—including an especially contentious one (John Agar)—ready for battle. Forrest Tucker ("F Troop") and Richard Jaeckel ("The Dirty Dozen") also star.

In Focus

The 1941 classic "Citizen Kane" is considered his screen masterpiece, so that's the logical film to open Turner Classic Movies' monthlong salute to the work of Orson Welles on Wednesday, May 4. The movie that gave rise to the legend of "Rosebud" is just the first attraction in a Welles quadruple feature that also includes "The Magnificent Ambersons" (1942), "The Lady From Shanghai" (1948) and "Touch of Evil" (1958).

Crossing Jordan

Although he is the prime suspect in his wealthy neighbor's murder, an agoraphobic man (guest star Jeremy London, "Party of Five") becomes a potential romantic interest for Jordan (Jill Hennessy) in "Out of Sight." Woody (Jerry O'Connell) is bent on proving the man's guilt. Macy and Lily (Miguel Ferrer, Kathryn Hahn) clash with Homeland Security officials over a suicide.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: The Chronicles of Riddick
Convicted murderer and spaceship-crash survivor "Riddick" (Vin Diesel) faces new foes in this sequel to 2000's "Pitch Black." While on the run from bounty hunters, he meets a diplomat (Judi Dench) who wants to hire him to fight a race of vicious superbeings bent on taking over the universe. Colm Feore, Karl Urban, Alexa Davalos and Thandie Newton also star in the 2004 sci-fi adventure.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit
Matthew Modine guest stars as a man who got away with raping and killing a child once before. Stabler (Christopher Meloni) blames himself for that, and when the man is brought in for another murder, he's determined not to let it happen again. Richard Belzer, Dann Florek and Ice-T also star in "Rage."

8 p.m. on HALL

Movie: Ordinary Miracles
A judge (Jaclyn Smith), who has kept her emotions in check since her divorce, rethinks her decision to send a troubled teen (Lyndsy Fonseca) to juvenile hall. She takes the girl into her home and makes it her mission to reunite the young woman with her father, whom she's never known. Along the way, she gets a refresher course in love. C. Thomas Howell and Corbin Bernsen also star in this heart-warming new drama.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order
In "The Sixth Man," Fontana and Green (Dennis Farina, Jesse L. Martin) have two sets of possible suspects and motives in their latest murder case. The victim's landlord desperately wanted him gone so the building could go co-op. Also, the man was a gambler, which might mean an angry bookie or loan shark. But fingerprints point to a third suspect: a basketball player with whom the victim was feuding.
